Cleveland, OH (PRWEB) October 30, 2006 -- The rock band Lareau has just completed filming its first music video with Producer's/Director's James Pizzaro and Aaron Doonan . The song is the title cut from their debut Rust Records release entitled "Changes".

The clip was shot in Cleveland at various locations in and around the well known "Flats Area". We scouted the locations very carefully explains James Pizzaro as to pay special attention to the lyrics Lareau had written for the song.

Based in the Jamestown area of Western New York, and the Warren area of Pennsylvania, Lareau (pronounced La Row), is stylistically reminiscent of acts like Ben Folds Five, The Dave Matthews Band, Three Doors Down and Ben Harper. Lareau's "Changes" is the debut CD, on Nashville-based indie Rust Records/RED.

Lareau is currently working on their second album with producers Darrin Payne and Anthony Brown at All Sound Recording Studios in Warren PA. The yet untitled CD will be released late spring 2007.
